

EcoJilin To Create a Better Future for Human

What is EcoJilin ?

EcoJilin is an ecological yarn produced by Jilin Chemical Fiber Group Co.,Ltd.

Jilin takes research, development and manufacturing of green, safe, ecological and environment-friendly fiber products as its own responsibility, practices the social responsibility of a large enterprise with practical actions, and promotes the sustainable development of the textile industry.

The earth needs us to protect

Food

The Global Food Crisis Report 2020 shows that 135 million people in 55 countries and regions were facing a serious food security crisis by the end of 2019.

Forests

According to the Global Forest Resources Assessment 2020, released by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, the global forest area has decreased by 4.7 million hectares per year since 2010.

Environmental protection

At the second United Nations Environment Assembly in 2015, microplastic pollution was listed as a major global environmental problem. Synthetic fiber fabric is the main source of microplastic particle pollution.

Made from cotton linters. After ginning, the short fiber still remains on the cotton seeds are stripped off by a flannel stripper, called cotton linters, which accounts for 15-20% of lint, and has been treated as agricultural waste in the past, by recycling into cotton linters pulp, can save 15-20% area of cotton field.

95% of EcoJilin's production water is recycled efficiently. The standard coal can be saved by 24133tce annually by the process technology upgrading such as recycling heat energy of circulating water and recycling waste heat of exhaust air.

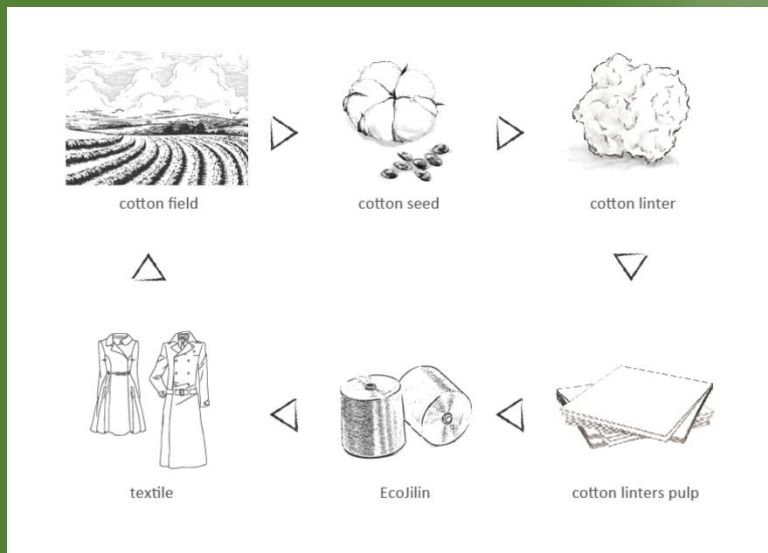

EcoJilin, made of 100% pure natural cotton linters pulp, the degradation rate reached 98% after 45 days under natural conditions, and the load on natural environment is less.

Degradation rate of Bamboo is 98.6% at the 45th day

EcoJilin effectively recycles agricultural waste with a 100% recovery rate, RCS certified EcoJilin is an ideal alternative yarn.
